On behalf of: University of Chichester

The University of Chichester is set in the wonderful environment of West Sussex, in southern England, and is a community renowned for being welcoming, supportive and friendly. Chichester is a cathedral city, not far from the sea and the South Downs National Park, with a population of around 25,000 and is roughly 1½ hours from London, 45 minutes from Brighton and 30 min from Portsmouth by train (Google map).

The University has several successful exchange partnerships and is currently looking for bilateral Erasmus exchange partners – for both staff and students – in the areas of Fine Art and Performing Arts. Not all of the University's students are linguists, so they would like to find partners who are able to offer instruction in English or with translation. Teaching at the University of Chichester is in English.

Whilst the University would welcome interest from anywhere, they are particularly interested in Erasmus partnership with higher education institutions located in: Belgium; Denmark; Finland; France; Italy; the Netherlands; Norway; Spain; or Sweden,

Performing Arts

Performing Arts at the University has been built on the established and nationally recognised work in the areas of dance, fine art and music, together with a strong commitment to interdisciplinary study in the creative arts. The department currently offers the popular BA (Hons) Performing Arts, both as single and joint honours degrees. The University has excellent facilities for the study of performance, centred on the ShowRoom, a newly opened 212-seat performance venue. Website.
